Why TFC?

As the name suggests, a cluster model that enables SME's to take up high volume orders.

SME's have the technical capacity to handle any project, but are constrained by their inability to handle bigger volumes

TFC serves as a bridge between the customer and SME's

Benefits to the Customers

01

Customer does not have the hassle of dealing with multiple vendors

02

Their one-point contact is TFC

03

TFC does the entire coordination with the customer on behalf of the SME's

04

TFC gets the PO from the customer and in-turn places the order to the various SME's registered with it

05

TFC has a dedicated vendor base of 11 companies which are owned by the directors in their individual capacity

06

These 11 companies split the order amongst them and execute it

07

Incase of bigger orders, TFC has a large vendor database to outsource the job and execute

08

TFC also has a tie-up with Third Party Inspection agencies
